What do MPCS Governing Council (GC) members do? (at a glance)

GC members are committed to upholding the school’s Mission and Vision and to keeping students at the center of all decisions. They are ultimately responsible for the MPCS Charter.

They consult with subject matter experts, within and outside of the MPCS community, to gain background knowledge about school-related topics.

They read and process information and reports related to school activities, such as reports from directors, faculty, and committees; budgets and financial reports; and Jeffco and Colorado education materials.

They communicate and collaborate with school directors to support school initiatives, programs, and events. MPCS directors are the only staff who report to the GC; all other faculty and staff are employees of Jeffco and report to the directors.

They communicate and collaborate with other GC members, in GC meetings as well as outside of GC meetings, adhering to the boundaries set forth in the Colorado Sunshine Law for Open Meetings. GC meetings focus on decisions required to advance school initiatives, strategy development and implementation, financial planning, and oversight of director and committee activities.

They interact with faculty, staff, and community members through committee meetings and informal settings, respecting boundaries and the MPCS grievance process.

They read and process information and reports related to school activities, such as reports from directors, faculty, and committees; budgets and financial reports; and Jeffco and Colorado education materials.

They consult with subject matter experts, within and outside of the MPCS community, to gain background knowledge about school-related topics.